COMP-1589 Computer Systems and Internet Technologies

Week 4 labs

This work is part of your assessment and when finished should be saved in a folder called “Week4_lab”, this will then be zipped and uploaded to the coursework upload slot.

This week there are four videos on Moodle to work through. The basic files you need to start are zipped and on Moodle too.

This is the material I demoed in the lecture, but you need to work through making sure you really understand what is going on with the CSS.

Ideally you should use headphones in the labs, you can borrow some from the first-floor support desk if you do not have any wired headphones of your own.

Take your time, there is no rush.

The lessons these videos are based on are available below

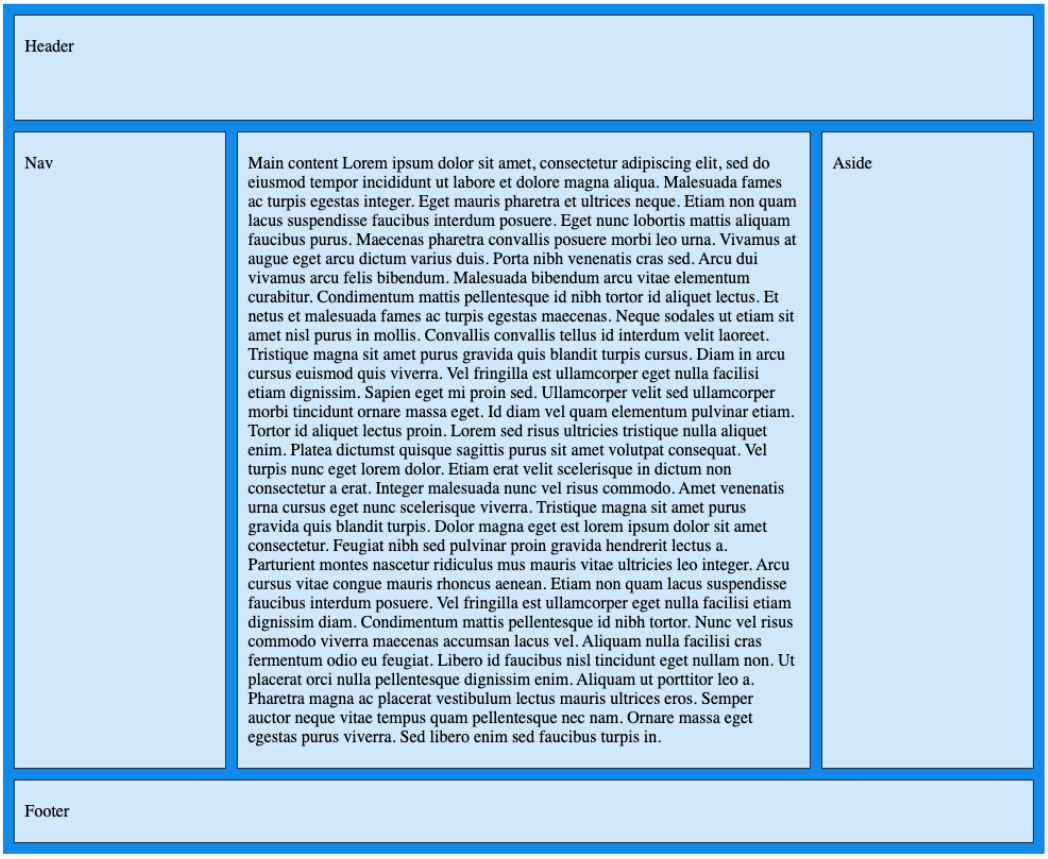
When you are finished you should have something like this.



Here is a dummy text generator

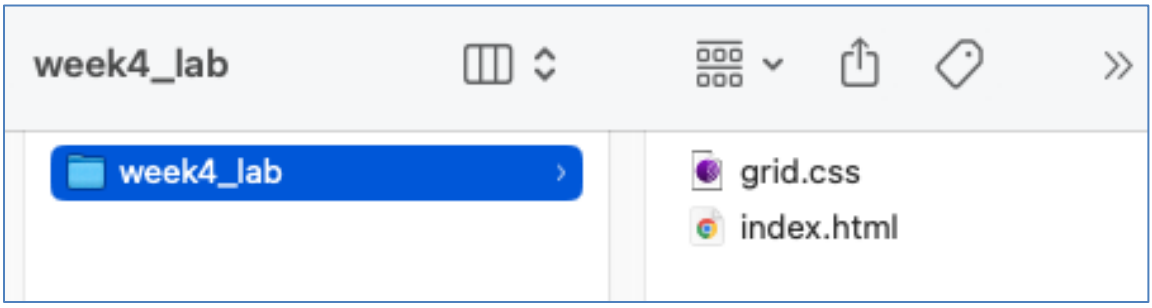
When complete you will have a folder called week4_lab. Zip this whole folder up and upload it to the coursework system.


We will be building on this code next week, so it is important that you finish it before the next class
